Are You Living a Healthy Life?

Changing your lifestyle can help you live healthier and longer. There are many habits that can keep your body looking and feeling young.

1) Eat Healthy

It's important to start your day with a healthy breakfast even if it's just a banana and a glass of milk. During the day, have healthy snacks and drink enough water. Don't drink fizzy drinks.

2) Limit TV and Computer Time

Playing video games for a long time is a waste of time. We can spend our time in a useful way by doing the things we love with our family and friends.

3) Have a Good Sleep at Night

Get ready for bedtime, wear your clean pyjamas, brush your teeth and relax in bed to get a deep and healthy sleep.

1 Good habits help you live a good life.

Amazing Insects

Ants

Like all other insects, ants have 6 legs. They are very strong. They have 2 stomachs. They do not have ears. They feel with their feet. They live in groups and have different jobs. Queens, soldiers and workers are some of the jobs. Most ants are red or black, but you can find them in other colours as well.

Butterfly

Butterflies are beautiful. They have four wings. They cannot hear. They live everywhere except cold places because they can't fly when it's cold. Butterflies taste with their front feet. They feed mostly on nectar and pollen from flowers. The life cycle of a butterfly has 4 stages. "Egg, caterpillar, chrysalis and adult butterfly". Female butterflies are usually larger and live longer.

Ladybirds

Ladybirds come in many colours. Some are red, orange and yellow with black dots on them. They have two wings. Like butterflies, they are found everywhere except in cold places. They sleep in winter. They play dead to protect themselves. Ladybirds live from two to three years.

A House Robbery

Yesterday, there was a robbery in the neighbourhood. The family were out when a thief robbed their house. The family came back in the evening and saw the mess. Everyone was shocked. The father called the police and asked for help.

At the police station

Tell me what happened exactly?

A thief got into my house when we were out.

And where were you at that time Mr. Waleed?

I was at the hospital. I am a doctor.

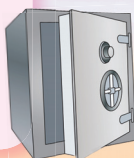

What about your family? What were they doing when the thief got into the house?

My son, Salem was getting a haircut at the barber. My daughter Sara, was reading at the library. My youngest daughter and my wife were shopping at the mall.

Don't worry Mr. Waleed, the police are doing their best to arrest the thief. Next time, you should lock all the doors and windows carefully before going out. You should also keep your money and jewellery in a safe place.

1 What did the  steal?

2 Who was getting a  when the thief robbed the house?

3 Where should people keep their  and .

Interview the police officer. Ask him about the house robbery.

How did the thief get into my house?

The Dhow in Kuwait logo is a symbol of "sea life in the past"

My name is Dr Lemuel Gulliver. I was born in 1679. I am a doctor but I always wanted to travel the world. So, on 4th May 1699, I left England on a ship.

Our journey began well, but after a few weeks there was a big storm. The ship hit some rocks. Everyone fell into the sea. I swam to the beach. I was very tired. I fell asleep.

When I woke up next morning, I couldn't move. My arms and legs were tied to the ground!

I was surprised. I saw a little man on my chest! He was very small.

I spoke to the man but he didn't understand me. I told him I was hungry and thirsty. Lots of little people put some ladders next to me. They climbed up the ladders. They gave me some meat, bread and water to drink.

Then, I met the King. He was very kind to me. His country was called Lilliput. An island near Lilliput, Blefescu, wanted a war. The King wanted me to help him.

I took off my socks and shoes and walked across the sea to Blefescu. I pulled some warships across the sea to Lilliput. The King was greedy. He wanted more ships. I said 'no' but the King was angry. The people in Lilliput wanted to kill me. I escaped to Blefescu. I was lucky. I found an old boat in the sea. The people in Blefescu helped me to repair it. I left Blefescu. I went back to England.

I stayed in England for two months, then I returned to sea. I was the ship's doctor. I left England on 20th June, 1702.

On 16th June, 1703, we saw land. I went with some men in a small boat. We wanted some water. I walked along the beach. Then, I saw the men in the boat going back to the ship! I saw ... a giant. It was a man but he was very tall. The man saw me and picked me up. I was frightened. He took me home to his family.

They gave me some food and the family watched me. Then his nine-year-old daughter looked after me. Brobdingnag was the name of this country.

The girl's father showed me to people around the country. People paid him money. Then he took me to the capital city. The Queen's children wanted to see me. Then the queen asked me and the little girl to stay at the palace.

I lived in a beautiful house. But I wasn't very happy. There were many wasps. I fought them with my sword. There were big hailstones. They hit me and my body hurt. Once, a monkey found me. He carried me to the top of a very high building. The Queen's soldiers rescued me!

One day, we went to the beach. My house was on the beach. Then my house was in the air. A very big bird picked me up. Then, he dropped me in the sea. My house floated on the sea. The next day a ship saw me and rescued me. They were English!

Finally, on 3rd June 1706 I returned to England. I was very happy to be home. I don't want any more adventures!

Joha and the Donkey

Joha and his son were travelling to a village near their home. They had a donkey with them. Joha's son was riding the donkey. Joha was walking next to the donkey.

They passed a family. The man looked at Joha, his son and the donkey. The man said that Joha's son shouldn't ride the donkey when his poor old father was walking. Joha told his son to get off the donkey. Joha got on the donkey. They continued their journey.

Then they passed another family. The man said that Joha shouldn't ride the donkey when his young son was walking. Joha told his son to get on the donkey as well. They continued their journey riding the donkey.

After a while, they passed another family. The man said that it was bad for two people to ride a small donkey. Joha thought about this. He got off the donkey and his son got off as well. They both walked next to the donkey. They continued their journey.

Next, they passed a man. The man looked at Joha and his son walking next to the donkey. The man said that Joha was silly to walk when he had a donkey. Joha thought about this. He had an idea. He carried the donkey. They continued their journey.

Then they saw another man with his son. They looked at Joha carrying the donkey. They laughed. They said that Joha was silly to carry a donkey when he could ride it!

Joha and his son arrived in the village. Joha told his son that this journey taught him an important lesson. It is very difficult to make everyone happy. You need to decide the best thing to do. You can't listen to everyone. If you listen to everyone, nobody is happy!

Joha and the Kettle

Joha and his family had very nice neighbours. The neighbours were a man and his family. But, Joha's neighbour sometimes borrowed things from Joha and he didn't give them back. Joha wasn't very happy about this. He wanted to teach his neighbour a lesson.

One day, Joha went to his neighbour's house. He wanted to borrow a kettle. Joha's neighbour gave him the kettle. The next day, Joha returned the kettle.

Joha's neighbour took the kettle and he looked inside. He was very surprised. There was another smaller kettle inside! Joha's neighbour asked Joha where the small kettle came from. Joha told his neighbour that the kettle had a baby during the night. He didn't want to separate the two kettles. He wanted to return both the big kettle and the small kettle to his neighbour. Joha's neighbour thought that Joha was a fool. So, Joha's neighbour took the two kettles happily. Joha went home.

Two weeks later, Joha visited his neighbour. Joha wanted to borrow the kettle again. But, this time, Joha didn't return the kettle. So, a week later Joha's neighbour went to Joha's house. He needed the kettle. But, Joha told him his kettle was dead. The neighbour was very angry. He told Joha that it wasn't possible that the kettle was dead. He told Joha that kettles don't die. But, Joha's neighbour believed that the kettle had a baby, Joha said. If a kettle can have a baby, it can die.

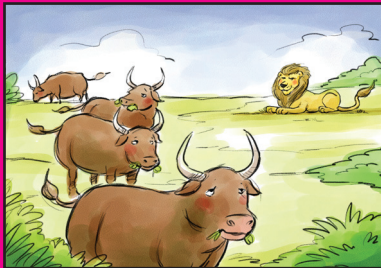

Joha's neighbour went home. He thought about Joha and the kettle. Joha's neighbour didn't borrow anything from Joha for a long time. One day, he borrowed a saucepan. He returned the saucepan the next day.

Joha's neighbour learned an important lesson. You must look after other people's things. You must always return them.

Grammar review

Present simple and present continuous

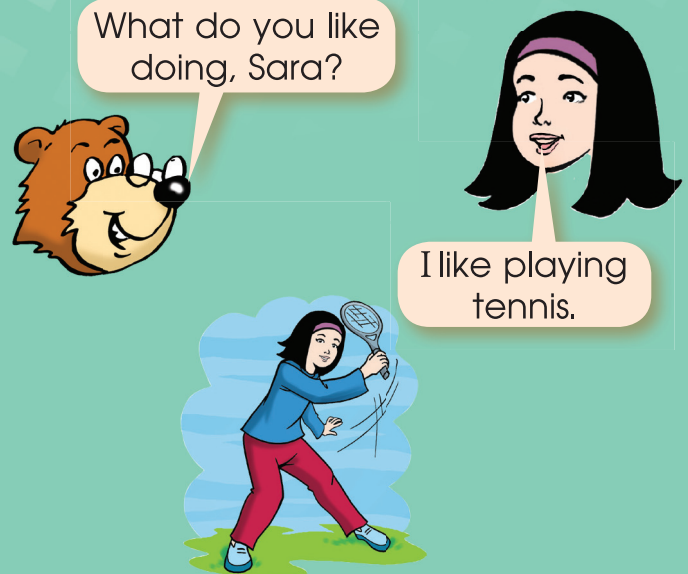

We use the present simple for something that is always true. We use the present continuous to talk about something that is happening at the time of speaking.

Bees make honey. Now, the beekeeper is collecting the honey.

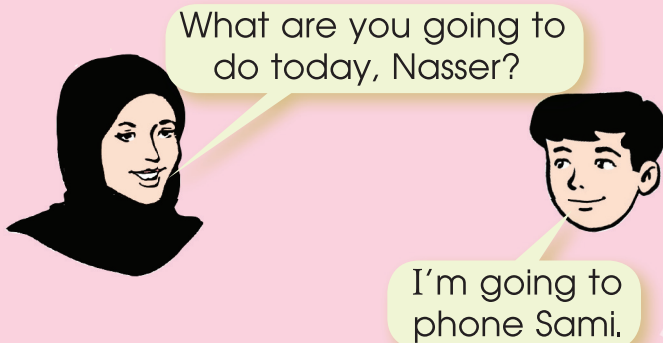

Like plus the -ing form

The verb like is always followed by the -ing form of the verb. We use it to talk about what we like doing.

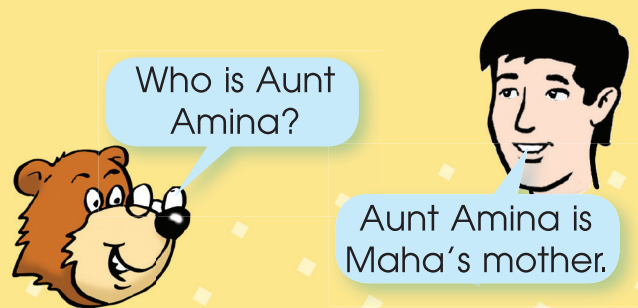

The future with going to

We use be + going to when we are talking about future plans.

The possessive 's an apostrophe is normally used with the letter 's' to show possession.

Grammar review

Superlative adjectives

We use superlative adjectives to compare someone or something with the whole group they belong to.

The giraffe is the tallest animal.
The monkey is the cleverest animal.

The modal verb: must

We use must when we want to say that it is very important that something happens in the present or future.

Sultan must study hard for his exams.

Prepositions: over, through, up

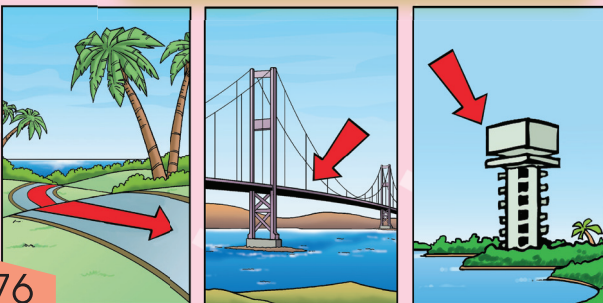

We use the prepositions of movement over, through and up to talk about how we move.

We must go over the bridge.

We're going to go through the park.

We can climb up the tower.

Past simple + past continuous

We use the past continuous to talk about something that was happening in the past at a certain time.

We often use the past continuous and the past simple tense together. Often, the 'action' described by the past simple tense interrupts the 'situation' described by the past continuous tense.

What were you doing when Brainy scored a goal?

I was reading a book.
